

A SENIOR SAFETY ALERT

5 AI SCAMS TARGETING SENIORS

Know the signs.
Stop the scam.

FAMILY-EMERGENCY VOICE CLONING

1

A caller sounds exactly like a child or grandchild and claims to be injured, arrested or kidnapped. They demand money immediately and tell you to keep it secret.

GOVERNMENT OR POLICE IMPERSONATION

2

AI-generated calls or videos imitate police, Social Security, Medicare, the IRS or another authority. Real agencies do not demand gift cards, cryptocurrency or cash by courier.

ROMANCE AND COMPANIONSHIP SCAMS

3

Criminals use AI-generated photographs, messages, voices and video to build a convincing relationship, then invent an emergency or investment opportunity and ask for money.

FAKE INVESTMENT AND CRYPTO OFFERS

4

Deepfake video or audio may imitate a celebrity or financial expert promoting a fraudulent trading platform, guaranteed return or exclusive opportunity.

AI-ENHANCED PHISHING AND TECH SUPPORT

5

Convincing emails, texts and calls imitate banks, retailers or technology companies to steal passwords, account details, verification codes or remote access to your device.

STOP. HANG UP. VERIFY.

Call the person, bank, company or agency using a number you already trust. Never rely on caller ID, and never send money because someone demands secrecy or immediate action.
